Specification

The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it contains more than one paragraph and uses legal phraseology. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 17 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The phrase "can be" renders the claim indefinite because it is unclear whether the limitations following the phrase are part of the claimed invention. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 2877

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Standard Test Method for Maturity of Cotton Fibers (May, 1980) (as admitted prior art, page 2 and 3 of the specification), and in view of Jang (US 7,289,210).

As to Claims 1-17, the Standard Test teaches all the steps of the method as claimed with the exception of computer analysis of the images. Jang teaches a device a method for determining optical and physical properties of a multilayered birefringent specimen such as cotton fiber (see col. 5, lines 66-67 and col. 6, lines 1-2) by using multi-channel imaging system 10 (color digital camera) for detecting the predetermined multi-wavelength light intensities and image processing and data analysis system. (see col. 5, lines 47-52).

It would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was conceived to use the color digital camera and image processing data analysis as taught by Jang in the Standard Test instead of the manual comparison in order to provide automated, rapid and accurate analysis of the cotton fiber (see Abstract of Jang (the last two sentences)).

As to Claims 17-23, the Standard Test teaches all the limitation of the apparatus as claimed with the exception of computer analysis of the images. Jang teaches a device a method for determining optical and physical properties of a multilayered birefringent specimen such as cotton fiber (see col. 5, lines 66-67 and col. 6, lines 1-2) by using multi-channel imaging system 10 (color digital camera) for detecting the predetermined multi-wavelength light intensities and image processing and data analysis system. (see col. 5, lines 47-52).

It would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was conceived to use the color digital camera and image processing data analysis as taught by Jang in the Standard Test instead of the manual comparison in order to provide automated, rapid and accurate analysis of the cotton fiber (see Abstract of Jang (the last two sentences)).
